The (post-)pandemic moment has produced and is still producing transformations of the human being and, implicitly, of its relations with the cultural universe and beyond its spectrum. Therefore, the gesture of this year's conference is to try to raise awareness of these changes and to identify the direction that the student cultural environment is taking.

This year's edition continues the series of national scientific manifestations from previous years (under the name Ethnological, Aesthetic, Literary and Linguistic Confluences). With a view to an international cultural openness, the organisers submit to your attention the new and more thorough denomination - Cultural Crossroads. The event will be held in partnership with the University of Ljubljana, Slovenia and aims to encourage research among undergraduates, MA and PhD students.

The theme of the 7th edition, Remodelling the individual – reshaping the world, offers students the opportunity to build a dialogic community that supports connectivity and reciprocity in the spirit of multiculturalism, within which the alluvium of the (post-) pandemic period brings forth new attitudes and moments of re-evaluation of the traditional cultural structures.
